Lantern tribute to lost lives

By Jessica Morris

HUNDREDS of candlelit lanterns were set afloat at a 'beautiful' lakeside event last weekend in memory of the children and young adults a charity had supported.

Bluebell Wood Children's Hospice – which cares for youngsters with life-shortening and life-threatening conditions – held the emotional

'Light up the Lake' event at Manvers Lake.

The evening saw the lanterns floated out onto the lake on rafts at sunset, with hundreds of family members gathered by the water's edge to remember and celebrate their loved ones.

Each lantern was set afloat with a personalised dedication.

Jody and Ben Wigfull-Coy dedicated their lantern to their daughter Beau Matilda, who died in 2018.

The couple have been supported by Bluebell Wood ever since and were joined by their extended family for the event.

"For us it was the perfect opportunity to be with the people we care about and remember Beau in such a beautiful and unique way," said Jody.

"It was a stunning evening and unlike anything I've ever been to before."

Beth Cole, events fundraiser at Bluebell Wood, added: "It was an honour to be able to bring so many people to together for what was a moving and beautiful ceremony.

"We'd like to say a huge thank you to all those who supported the event."
